The Commune in the Corners An Attempt to Equalize Things by a Division of Property—How it Worked.

CONFEDRIT X ROADS, (Which is in the State of Kentucky,) Jooly 1, 1878. The finanshel condisn uv the Corners nd hez bin terrible sence the tyrant Lin kin emansipated our niggers, and the tother tyrant Grant refused us the con kin emansipated our piggers, and the tother tyrant Grant refused us the control of the fedral patronage. The people saw that gradually the entire wealth uv the Corners wuzcertain to go in the hands uv the bloatid monopolists, Bascom and Follock, Bascom wus gradooally absorbin all the capitle of the Dimocrisy, for he delt in the goods they yoose, and our march to beggary was stiddy and inexorable. We coodent work, becox the native white Kentuckan iz averse to work, and likker he must hev. We kin git on with a very little bread, but likker is a prime necessity, and there is no escape from it. And so, ex we wux perdooxin nothin, and must live, Bascom had got mortgages onto all our property, and he wux gradooally absorbin everything uv valoo. How to prevent this het bin the problem wich we hev discussed between drinks, for years. And lately, ex Bascom hex abandoned the credit system, and insists upon cash jist before takin a drink to prevent mistakes and misuuderstandins, we hev hed plenty uv time to discuss these pluts.

The Communists uv Noo York solved

these pints.

The Communists uv Noo York solved the problem for us. The idee uv dividir up all the property ekally, and sholishir at one sweep both the creditor and the hardware nv havin everbody share. debtor class, uv havin everbody share ekally, not only all the property, but the gains uv biznis, struck us ez precisely wat we wantid, and we determined to karry

Deekin Pogram objectid at first, for he sed he didn't quite see why he shood give up his farm; but I showd him ez Bascom held a mortgage onto it for more than it wuz wuth, that it wood, under the present war with, that it wood, more the present nefarious and oppressive system, inevita-bly pass into his hands in a few short months, it wooden make any difference anyhow. He consented, ex did Isasker Gavitt, whose mortgage falls due in a month, and so did Capt. M'Pelter, wich hes recently borrowed a large sum uv a Noo Eagland inshoorence company. Bascom objectid and Pollock objectid, Bascom objected and Policek objected, and we felt it necessary to yoose force. We organized, and after resolvin that capital was robbery and whoever possessed more wealth than any one else wuz a thief, we moved onto Bascom and Policek. Me and Issaker Gavitt and Deekin the total capital as compiled to the contract of the contract of a thief, we moved onto Eascom and Potlock. Me and Issaker Gavitt and Deekin Pogram wuz appointed a committee to divide the property up equitably.

It wuz a very simple process. There wuz exactly four hundred present wich we considered entitled to dividends, and all we hed to do wuz to inventory their goods, and divide em up. And we did it.
Bascom hed on hand eggsackly two barls uv likker, beside wat wuz in the bottles on the bar, wich the committee consoomed to support 'em doorin the division. This wuz eighty-four gallons uv likker, to be divided into four hundred. In two barls ther's about six hundred and seventy-two pints, which made a trifle over a pint and a half to each Comuniat. We divided it up, each man gittin his pint and a half, wich wuz promptly drunk on the spot. For an hour after the last drop disappeared the clitizens wuz enthusiastic over the idee and Communiam wuz votid a great success.

At Pollock's we hed more trouble. He

At Pollock's we hed more trouble. He At Pollock's we hed more trouble. He hed about four hundred yards uv calico on hand, wich we divided up, givin eech man a yard. There wuz only two hundred pares uv shoes, so eech one got only one shoe apiece. The sugar and molasses didn't do em very much good, ez it wuz wastid largely in drawin. The woolen goods wuz divided up like the calicoes, and gave em about a yard apeece. The sgricultooral implements we divided up y rafile, ez ther wuzn't plows sunff to go around, and we coodnt devide a plow.

We got Bascom and Pollock communed in about an hour, and the Corners postponed dividin up the real estate till morn in.

The citizens met at Bascom's early in the mornin to finish. The Deekin called upon Bascom to set em up, ez he hed sold a plow wich he hed won at the division

Bascom ain't hard to deal with et yoo her got anything with which to pay him.

I don't know how a community fixed er we are kin hev communism in its purity. We are in the iron grasp uv capital; and don't appear to be able to give to tu vi t. Beer Preferred to Water in Vienas.

Fulton's Letters.—Beer gardens and able er rooms are everywhere, and beer rooms are everywhere, and beer seems to be regarded as one of the necessaries of life. It is drank freely at all the restaurants, and is brought, as a matter of course, to every one as soons sthey take a seat at a table. A man who would undertake to eat without beer would be regarded as a curiosity. As as a matter of course. There is, however, no treating, as it is called with us, in Vienna. If two or three gentlemen come for what he drinks. If one of them call for a second glass, he never thinks of asking his companions to drink with him. If they want their glasses refilled, they will call for it and pay for it as he has done. The cooking in the Vienna restaurants is most excellent, and everything is served up hot and fresh from the kitchen. The price is also so moderate that families can live cheaper and better in the restaurants than they can at home, be included that tamilies can live cheaper and better in the restaurants than they can at home, be lightly the served up hot and fresh from the kitchen. The price is also so moderate that families can live cheaper and better in the restaurants than they can at home, be find the proper served up no s the ladies to "dress for dinner."

Water is undoubtedly a very scarce commodity in Vienna, cistern water being mostly used for drinking purposes. There are very slow running hydrants on the streets, and they are invariably surrounded by girls and women with buckets and tube, watting their turn to secure a supply. There are also wagons with hogsheads that go around to sell water. It is saud to be unwholesome, and, if drank continuously, will lead to obronic affections of the bowels. It is what is called hard water, but we have never drank continuously, will lead to chronic affections of the bowels. It is what is called hard water, but we have never found it unpalatable, though a lump of ice is a great improvement to it in this weather. There are, however, very few people in Vienna who drink water, and many who never touch it. Beer is the daily and hourly drink of almost every one, old and young. It is part of their daily food, just as coffee or tea is with us. When families are dining at the restaurants the beer mug stands by the plate of old and young, male and female, and it is even put to the lips of infants. Vienna beer does not, however, seem to have any intoxicating effect, and it never occasions a headache. We have seen and been in the company of men who will drink a dozen large glasses of an evening without observing the slightest inebriating effect. We doubt if they could drink as much American beer with impunity. The Austrians are undoubtedly a sober people, as it would be difficult to find a place where spirituous liquor is sold.

esding Pa , Eagle.

The younger tramp appeared to be somewhat disheartened, and was grumb ing that he did not like to be kicked about like a dog. The elder tramp, a large man with a rather cheerful face, but very ragged exterior, rebuked his companion in a way that showed how the average professional tramp views his situation. "I tell you," said he with a careless glance at the apparently inatentive Craig, "you ought to be glad to have such good times. Here, take a drink and don't be a fool. I've been on the road now several years, and don't want a better life. I get a living, and that's all a man wants. Now, look at these poor devils hurrying along to and from work. They slave all day and worry about it if they don't get a chance to do it. They work all day, year in and year out, and give all the grub we need to such chaps as me without thinking much about it. You and I lay here and sun ourselves, for this is the chilliest June I ever saw, and sleeping out this forenoon near the river more we feel cold. Will I casto, cold large man with a rather cheerful face, but this is the chilliest June I ever saw, and sleeping out this forenoon near the river made me feel cold. Will I catch cold from last night's rain! Well, suppose I do: I'm drying off and warming up now, and if I have whiskey enough I'll drive out the cold. I tell you there's no danger of any man starving to death in this country if he ain't ashamed to wear ragged cloths and has cheek enough to ask for grub. These folks will toil and slave to support us, and why shouldn't ask to grau. These loise will tolk silve to support us, and why shouldn't they if they are fools enough." And the tramp laughed heartily and passed the bottle to his companion, who was soon also in the best of humor.

SYLLABUS. 1. A County Court has a discretion to grant or refuse a certificate for obtaining a license to retail spirituous liquors &c. and the action of the County Court there restate be sold, or so much thereof as will satisfy and pay all my just debts and funeral expenses, and the balance of said property to remain on the plantation for the benefit of my wife Ellenor Mithollin, to use or dispose of at her discretion during her natural life, and also to have the right of disposal at her death, and also it is, my desire that all the lands belonging to me shall belong to my wife during her natural life, to use in any way she may think proper during her life, and at her death the land is to be sold and the money arising from said sale, the one-half of it to go to my heirs, including Andrew Milhollin, the son of Mary Akemon, and the other half of the moneys arising from said sale is to be at her disposal, to whom she thinks proper of her heirs.

Held let. This clause of the will gives to the wife the personal estate in absolute property; the gift of it for life with power to consume or dispose of the principal at her discretion being construed to amount to absolute property.

2d. She had but a life estate in the lands. If a moiety of the lands themselves had been put at her disposal instead of the proceeds of sale thereof she would have had a fee simple, had the rule in Shelley's case been applied, her life estate would be converted into a fee simple estate. But as she could by this will dispose of to her heirs the proceeds of the lands, but not the land itself, the interest conferred by the will on her heirs was personalty and her life estate being in land the two could not unite under the rule in Shelley's case and give her a fee simple, and the rule in see simple castate. But as she could by this will dispose of to her heirs the proceeds of the lands, but not the land itself, the interest conferred by the will on her heirs was personalty and her life estate being in land the two could not unite under the rule in Shelley's case and give her a fee simple.

unite under the rule in Shelley's case and give her a fee simple.

3. She had no ownership in this molety of the proceeds of the sale of the land. Had she been authorized to dispose of any portion of the personal estate of her hus-band in which no estate or interest had been given her, and this power of dispo-sal had been absolute, she would hav sal had been absolute, ane would nav had absolute property in such personali ty over which she was given such absolute power of disposal. But having been giver expressly a life estate in this land, the power to dispose of it or of its proceeds would not enlarge her life estate in the expressly a line estate in this land, not power to dispose of it or of its proceeds would not enlarge her life estate in the proceeds of the sale thereof, after her death. She had in those proceeds a power to dispose of them, but no ownership.

4. This power of disposal conferred on the wife was a power in the nature of a trust, and she having a deed without executing it, the moiety of the proceeds of the land should go to her heir, and if she had more than one it should be equally divided among them.

5. She having diedlin 1873 her sole heir under the provision of our code, then in force, was her subsequent husband, she leaving no children'or descendants.

6. The word heirs in this will can not be construed to mean heirs apparent, that is her next in kin at the testator's death.

7. If the devisee of a life eatate is simply authorised to dispose of the property at her death among a certain definite class as she may think proper, this will be held to be a power in the nature of a trust, unless it otherwise appears from the will that the duty to execute such a power, to be inferred from its being granted, was designed by the testator to be left to the option of the party on whom such power was conferred. The rule being that when there appears a general intention in favor of a class and a particular intention in favor of individuals of the class, and the particular intention falls, from that selection not being made, the Court will carry into effect the general intention in favor of the class.

Foreign Trade.

During the past ten years, says the Ne York Bulletin, we have exported from the United States nearly $500,000,000 more specie than we have imported, much o this having gone for the payment of in terest on American indebtedness held abroad, and most of the remainder in setgersoll cleared more money last tlement of merchandise accounts. The orts of exports and imports for the first eleven months of the fiscal year end-ing June 30 warrants the expectation that the balance due the United States on the ure platform. Each lecture paid him, on an average, $200—his regular pay being $250 per lecture. The total was reduced by lecturing several times free—that is, devoting the proceeds to various and worthy objects of charity. While here he bas all of the law business that he wants. year's business will be fully $250, being an increase of more than $ oeing an increase of more accruing in 1876-7.
Against this, large purchases of bonds have been made during the past six months. The cessation of gold exports gives material aid in gathering specie for resumption purposes, the product of American mines being very large and when not exported accuduct of American mines being very large, and when not exported accumulating very rapidly. It seems inevitable, also, that in early autum the importation of gold will begin. The heavy shipments of merchandise are likely to continue, and it must be paid for in some way. Possibly bonds may be imported, but more probably gold, though the advance in the Bank of England rate will tend to prevent the stoper of gold from vance in the Bank of Eogland rate will tend to prevent the export of gold from there for a white. Even if the bonds come, instead of gold, the amount to be shipped each year for interest will be thereby diminished, though we deem it far better that, for the present, the debt should be held sbroad; leaving American capital free for industrial enterprises and other purposes.

The Wool Activity. As noticed in yesterday's INTELLI-GENCER, there was a notable revival in the Boston wool market last week, afte the long period of inactivity, the sale footing up 1,875,000 pounds of domestic and 1,129,600 of foreign. A million pounds of South American carpet wool, 650,000 of domestic clothing fisece and nearly 300,000 of combing were included in these sales. The Pacific mills took 161,000 pounds of combing. Some of the prices were: Fleece wool, No. 1 and fine Wisconsin 35c, Ohio X 36a37c, Penn-sylvania XX and above 372c, Ohio XX and above 37c, X 38c, No. 1 39c, Ohio and Michigan 35a36c, combing and de-laine 42c, combing pulled 35c.
